

LIVING

Edited by
PIP McCORMAC
& ALISON WALKER

THE BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL

Doesn't this summer just seem like a dahlia moment? Bags and shoes are embellished with pompoms, sundresses are bedecked with blousy florals and the dial of the day is firmly set to a feeling of fiesta. Dahlias fit this bill: bursts of brightness fizzing like Catherine wheels, sparkling with joy. Use single stems as simple table settings and gather bunches to fill as many corners as possible. More is most definitely merrier.

